(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, May 30.—With deep solemnity the first Memorial day after the close of the great world conflict today, the nation's heroes of earlier wars sharing its tributes with those who fell in the struggle to maintain the liberties and ideals for which their forefathers fought.

Memorial exercises were held at Arlington cemetery, the United States House and other points under the auspices of the G. A. R., United Spanish war veterans and allied organizations, which participated in the annual parade earlier in the day.

A special committee decorated the "tomb of the unknown dead" at Arlington as a tribute to American soldiers who fell in France. Special exercises also were held at the mast of the United States steamship at Arlington.

Vice President Marshall was the speaker at exercises conducted under the auspices of the G. A. R. and representatives Campbell, of Kansas, spoke at the soldiers' home exercises.

With the senate not in session, members of the house devoted today to paying tributes to those who served or gave others to the service of the country in great war. Many were the expressions of gratitude solemnly pronounced by representatives during consideration of a resolution tendering the thanks of congress to the new patriots.

Decorated in Britain.
London, May 30.—The graves of 1,582 United States soldiers and sailors were decorated today in many parts of the United Kingdom. American flags were placed above them by war and navy officials and on each was placed a wreath by representatives of the Knights of Columbus.

There are 500 American graves on the island of Islay where were buried the victims of the Orkney and Tuscany disasters; 640 at Everton and in Magdalen cemetery, Winchester, near the site of the former huge American "rest camp." In the latter cemetery, being those of American soldiers stricken by influenza and taken from the transport at that port, 41 in small towns and villages in England and Scotland and 40 in various parts of Ireland. All of the ships are alike, 400 feet long and 50 feet beam. Four of them are named, the Pipestone County, Alden Creek and the Lehigh are named after counties and towns which won honors in the war.

The fifth vessel will be named Tuxpallia.

Miss Lois Gelfer, chosen by the Pipestone county Minnesota. Liberty loan committee will christen the Pipestone county. Pipestone county, Minnesota was represented by a delegation of 50 persons.

"WE WILL USE OUR OWN SHIPS," DANIELS

Philadelphia, May 30.—Never again will the United States be guilty of the folly of trusting its foreign commerce to the ships of other nations or of quitting the shipbuilding industry, declaring Secretary of the Navy Daniels in an address today at the Hog Island shipyard on the occasion of the successful launching of the first of the new vessels, the greatest single day's launching in the history of any yard in the world. The five vessels added 30,000 tons to the American merchant marine.

"We could not, if it would as a nation," said Secretary Daniels, "leave the two oceans dependent upon foreign bottoms for our overseas commerce. We will not quit the shipbuilding industry or ever again be guilty of the folly of trusting its foreign commerce to the ships of other nations. We will put the industry on a firm and sound basis."

Atlantic City to Paris
by Plane in 24 Hours

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)

Americans in 24 hours with 100 passengers aboard is a possibility as a result of the completion of a semi-durable airplane plane by Lieut. Walter Denning of Philadelphia, both of whom are stationed at Southern Field, the aviation training camp here. Announcement of the project was made by the military authorities at the post here. Blueprints outlining complete plans as well as the new model were shown to newspaper men and have been examined by several experts and have met with unanimous approval. These experts claim this transatlantic aeroliner will revolutionize ocean travel.

Complete results of baseball games in the American and National leagues, obtained over the Associated Press wire are posted every afternoon except Sunday at the Gazette office and Baker's Drug store.

Fibbed Little Here and There; Gets into Navy

(BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.)

Springfield, Ill., May 30.—It apparently was an easy task for Leo Edward Williams, although under age, to get in the navy. He "fibbed" a little here and there and the recruiting officer sent him along. But after a few months' ship shoveling Leo was granted his perjury. The quail of his conscience hurt him so much he finally confessed his duplicity. He told officers he wanted to get home and was through with the jolly far life. Investigation was made and the boy's confession proven true. It was disclosed Williams "fibbed" himself into the navy, incurring a penitentiary sentence.

PEACE and WAR

Austria's peace delegation will not receive the terms of peace from the allied representatives until Monday. After the plenary session of the peace conference yesterday afternoon, it was announced that several of the smaller powers directly interested in the treaty to be presented to Austria had asked for 48 hours in which to study the pact. This makes it necessary for conference to hold another plenary session Saturday.

The Austrian delegation has been informed that presentation of the treaty will not take place until Monday and has acquiesced in the decision of the conference. There is no suggestion of a disagreement in the conference over the terms, but it was pointed out by M. Brulano of Romania that Serbia, Rumania and other small nations desired a short time for consideration.

The vexing problem of the disposition of Trieste has, according to Paris advices been definitely settled. Trieste becomes an independent state which will be under the tutelage of the league of nations. Questions of the Adriatic coast have been adjusted by giving Italy strategic islands along the coast, but there seems to be some discrepancy between dispatches as to the future status of Zara, capital of Dalmatia, and Sebenico, a seaport 70 miles southeast of Trieste. President Wilson and Premier Orlando conferred this morning over details of the settlement which was cloudy. The seaplane was not damaged when she landed.

London, May 30.—The following message from the N. C.-4 was received here: "N. C.-4 at Mondego river, must await high tide. Scaphane cannot make Plymouth. Request destroyers to keep stations. What is best port to land scaphane within 300 miles?"

The message was signed by Lieut. Commander Read. It was not timed. It was picked up at 12:30 p. m. by the United States auxiliary Grudgeport in Brest Harbor. The message was addressed to the commander of division 14, United States Destroyer forces.

London, May 30.—The following message from the N. C.-4 was received here: "The month of the Mondego river is near. The scaphane is about 100 miles north of Lisbon on the Portuguese coast."

London, May 30.—Commander Read of the N. C.-4 sent a further message stating that he could not make Plymouth tonight. The seaplane was not damaged when she landed.

Brest, May 30.—When the United States seaplane NC-4 left Lisbon this morning the weather was cloudy. There was a barometer depression over the bay of Biscay, but the weather was clear over the English channel, with a light southerly breeze. At 10 o'clock the wireless had picked up any messages reporting progress.

The NC-4 passed station A at 8 o'clock this morning and station B at 9:30 a. m. She is flying at an altitude of about 2,000 feet in calm, beautiful flying weather. She is expected to make Ouessant Light on the westernmost extremity of the islands off the coast of Brittany at 11:30.

Nothing further has been heard by the naval authorities at Paris or Brest from the N. C.-4 since she communicated with station B at 9:30 o'clock. An intercepted wireless message relayed from the torpedo boat destroyer Woolsey at station C on the route of the NC-4, is interpreted by the naval authorities here as meaning that the NC-4 developed trouble, but effected repairs and resumed her flight.

The message read: "Maintain stations. NC-4 on 1st way."

The message was sent by the Woolsey to the destroyer Tarbell at station D. It was intercepted by the United States transport George Washington, lying at Brest.

Navy Officials Notified.
Washington, May 30.—The navy department was officially advised of the departure of the seaplane NC-4 from Lisbon for Plymouth at five o'clock this morning in a brief message from this morning in a brief message from

What Makes Good Men is Told by "Y" Secretary in Boston

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Boston, Mass., May 30.—After 31 years of intimate study of young men, George W. Melcher, retiring general secretary of the Boston Y. M. C. A., declares that these are the things which contribute most toward success: A practical education. Recognition that the church is the greatest promoter of righteousness in every community, and the importance of identification with it. The securing of a business or professional opening in which one can put one's whole heart and energies. Careful selection of a wife and the securing of one in sympathy with one's highest ideals of life who will make a good home.

Responsible selection of one's friends. Responding to some of the appeals for voluntary service in the community.

Failure in life is unwillingness to pay the price of success. Every genuine friend is an asset. Learn to be the steward of your income. The modern young man is restless; he is living too fast.

Praises Salvation Army

Washington, May 30.—America's gratitude for the work of the Salvation army in France and in Belgium was voiced in a resolution introduced in the United States Senate by Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, honoring Miss Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in America, the honorary rank of colonel in the United States army and further recommending that a distinguished service medal be awarded to her.
Senator Watson spoke of the intimate service that had been given by the Salvation army to the American soldiers. This consisted of sewing on buttons, distributing doughnuts, and giving advice to the men who sought it at times and under conditions when it was most appreciated. He told how the Salvation army had been forced to borrow $25,000 in order to start its work during the war, and that from this beginning with 30 workers, the Salvation army troops, the Salvation army activities grew to 1,120 working women and men too old for service back of the trenches, and 410 huts and hotels.
"I regard it as only a just and gracious act that the congress of the United States should officially recognize the invaluable service rendered among our troops in France by the Salvation army, of which Miss Evangeline Booth is the American commander," said the senator. "When the United States entered the war the Salvation army was ready. Across the seas they were in the van with the advancing army, and many times were under shell fire. Long will be remembered the slogan of the Salvation army women who said, 'We can die with the boys, but we cannot desert them.'"
"The Salvation army women were mothers to our boys in khaki. Not only did they give them doughnuts, but they mended their uniforms and did little numberless services in a thousand different ways. The same service was rendered to the men in the navy."
"In view of this service and the fact that Miss Evangeline Booth is the only woman in America at the head of one of the organizations which rendered valiant service at the front, I think it eminently fitting, and proper, and right that the congress should recognize her services by bestowing on her, for honorary purposes, a military rank in the United States army."

CANCER RANKS HIGH AS CAUSE OF DEATH

Madison, May 30.—Cancer has taken rank as one of the chief causes of death in this state, with 1,833 deaths in 1918 and an average of 1,813 a year in the last eight years, according to state records of vital statistics. While the "great white plague" prevails at all ages, cancer is essentially a disease of adult life. At ages over 40 cancer causes one death out of every eight among women, and one out of every 14 among men.
"Cancer is a curable disease, and probably 60 percent of the 80,600 yearly deaths are unnecessary and preventable," says the state board of health. "It is a popular misconception to say that we know nothing about the cause of cancer. Much is now known about the conditions, such as the habits of life, predisposing factors and the various forms of chronic irritation under which the disease arises. If this knowledge were more widely disseminated and utilized the mortality from cancer would undoubtedly be reduced."
"Cancer is curable because it is at first a local disease, and not a constitutional or blood disease. It begins in one spot as a small growth, which in the early stages can be removed. If it is done in a complete and thorough way, every trace of the disease can often be removed so that it will not return. If neglected, however, cancer spreads like fire and gets beyond control. It is a disease that must be treated at first, and therefore may be too easily neglected during the early and more hopeful stages. Records of the best hospitals prove that the chances of cure are high with early operation, and that these chances decrease with every day of delay."

GAS CLOUD ON SUN IS UNUSUAL PHENOMENON

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, Thursday, May 29.—An announcement of an unusual celestial phenomenon, an enormous cloud of gas gathering on the eastern edge of the sun, was made from the Yerkes observatory of the University of Chicago at Lake Geneva today.
It was announced in connection with the total eclipse of the sun at 8 a. m. which was visible in Brazil and equatorial Africa. The gas cloud, said Prof. E. B. Frost of the Yerkes observatory, must have caused a brilliant spectacle where the total eclipse was visible.
This cloud was first observed two days ago. It has grown to one of the largest of its kind ever observed, at Yerkes, where it is said to be now entirely detached from the sun and to extend for about 340,000 miles in an arc along the sun's edge, probably 125,000 miles away from the edge. The distance from the sun to the top of the cloud is estimated at 200,000 miles. A sun spot is becoming visible beneath the cloud on the sun's edge.

2 Youngsters Make 6
Cops Do "Kamerad"

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Philadelphia, May 30.—Cries of "Help! Help!" coming from six husky throats brought scores of people to one of the busiest sections of Camden in the early morning, who beheld two 10-year-old boys in the act of holding up half a dozen stalwarts of the law at the point of guns. The lads—Francis Poplinski and Joseph Tablinski—had been surprised by the police while robbing the store of Bernard Reichling, 1121 Broadway.

Like a movie thriller the youngsters showed fight when confronted by the police, whipped their weapons from their pockets and stood the officers against the wall. When the crowd pressed around the cops took courage and made for the boys, who were subdued after a quick but stubborn fight behind a pile of bundles which they used for a barricade. "Aw, don't be so rough," squeaked Poplinski, as he was pulled from the mules.

MEMORIAL DAY.
Today we bow our heads in reverence for the brave heroes who have made the supreme sacrifice so that liberty and righteousness shall live.
The day has a new significance this year for the ideals for which the crucible of our nation's history was forged and have been preserved by those heroes who gave their lives on the fields of France. Our tears of grief are mingled with tears of joy over the victory.

Today as we strew the flowers of summer over the graves of those who have given their all to perpetuate democracy's cause we realize the glory of our heroes' sacrifices, and while the heart cries out in anguish at the loss of those near and dear, the throb of pride in the achievements of our men of arms pulsates in our breasts.

The thinning ranks of the veterans of the rebellion are swelling the murderous sons of liberty who are the living examples of freedom's offspring.
They bow their heads with the grand old men of that other war and shed a tear and offer a silent prayer for the "buddie" who gave his life across the sea. But as they stand side by side before the altar of duty, which represents the thousands across the Atlantic their hands clasp in silent determination that the victory won shall be lasting and that the grip of imperialism must never again menace
the throat of the world.

The mothers, fathers and wives of those who lie in lonely graves away off in France are bound more closely by the knowledge that their loved ones have made the world safe. Although the loss brings suffering, the heart is softened by the thought of unselfish devotion to duty given by the departed. Those who are left behind have made a sacrifice, but theirs in a measure can be rewarded by the thought that future generations can live in peace and happiness.

Today as we strew the roses of love
over the graves of these heroes let us pause and review the great lesson the late war has taught—that right must prevail; that tyranny must be beaten to earth and that it is our duty day by day to mould our lives so that we can carry on the ideals for which our heroes died.

THE HOUSEHOLD BUDGET.
The household is a corporation. As a corporation it has certain definite and regular obligations, a certain income, definite or indefinite. It should, therefore, have a definite budget.

Perhaps the best budget for the household, as an industrial corporation, follows the lines industrial corporations have found best suited to industrial needs.

No general budget, of course, can be so framed as to fit the needs of every family. Families differ, even when identical in size, number, sex and situation. But no family can thrive and progress without sound, sane and reasonable financing, without arrangement of a reasonable financial margin, without regular savings and investments such as are offered by Thrift and War Savings Stamps. And only intelligent adherence to an intelligent budget can be trusted, under ordinary circumstances, to bring the desired program about.

Methods of budget appropriation differ in different cases; one method may prove feasible in a given family that would be worse than useless in another. But certain cardinal principles may be safely laid down.

Funds for the various budget divisions may be set apart definitely or the amount of one may be contingent upon the balance left from another.
Amounts may be fixed as absolute sums or they may take the form of percentage on income or earnings. Allowances may be valuable or may be held within hard and fast limits. Certain divisions such as savings or in-duigences, may benefit from economic employment of others, such as the household allowance or unexpected allowance of such expected expenses as a dentist's bill or taxes. One plan after another may be tried, if liked,
until the one best suited to the family is found. All things considered, however, the most efficient budget usually is that which allows a certain share of the income for each budget head listed, holds rigidly within the limits of appropriation, and wisely applies any balance or surplus to the savings or betterment account.

GARBAGE REMOVAL.
Some complaints have arisen
in the minds of householders concerning the requirements of the garbage ordinance recently enacted by the city council. As a result violations of the ordinance are frequent.

UNCLE SAM IS FULL FLEDGED SCHOOL MASTER IN ARMY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, Thursday, May 29.—Uncle Sam is now a fully certified schoolmaster with about 200,000 khaki-clad pupils. This is the result of the establishment of the educational corps of the United States army to provide training for vocations and academic instruction for young men in the army.
The educational corps is under the direction of Brig. Gen. Robert I. Rees, who militarized the American college last fall. Under him is an executive commission of three educators, Dr.
Frank E. Spaulding, superintendent of schools in Cleveland; Dr. John E. King, professor of English at Columbia and Dr. Kenyon L. Butterfield, president of the Massachusetts Agricultural college. In all about 7,500 instructors, including a number of men of high standing in American education, are teaching the American soldiers the way to progress. Everything from a b, c to university subjects and from stenography to engineering is included within the curriculum of this great and unique college.

The army schools were in full operation by January, equipped with $1,500 worth of books specially ordered from America and provided in part by the American Library Association. There has been a shortage of books and often one book has had to serve for a whole class.

Many hundreds of army schools have been established throughout France wherever there are enough American soldiers to warrant. General Pershing's order required a post school in every place where 500 or more men were stationed and as the schools had to be opened at once all sorts of queer places, from caves to monasteries, were used as schoolrooms, until regular quarters could be provided. The soldiers are studying in barns, stable lofts, aerodromes, army barracks and in one case in a convent. Meantime the army is endeavoring to provide adequate quarters and sufficient books for its 200,000 students. In cities like Coblenz, the city school buildings are used without interfering with the regular school life of the children.

JAPANESE PEERS FEAR CHINESE SUPERIORITY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Tokio, May 30.—Several political groups in the house of peers have joined in an indictment of the government's foreign policies, especially toward China. As summarized in the Tribune, the peers expressed the opinion that the race question is unimportant compared to the Chinese question, and that the real injury which Japan suffered at Paris was the disclosure of Chinese antagonism.

The peers expressed the view that true friendship between Japan and China should be cultivated. China should be helped in the laying of a foundation for a stable administration.
They voiced the fear that Japan is fast losing her position in China and that America is replacing Japan.

As far as Korea is concerned the peers said that the government should establish a permanent policy of friendship with Korea so as to give them cause of mind and contentment.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

—ROY K. MOULTON—
THE WOMEN.
The world is so full of the wonderful ladies
Who smile with the radiance known
of the sun;
The world is so full of remarkable
ladies
Who wield the combined power of heaven and hades
It's really absurd to go daft about one.

Is Fate hands the ardent admirer a twister
And "she" throws him down with a delicious thud,
He ought to forget her and go find her sister—
For sisters she has by the millions,
And each is as charming and pretty a bud.

Now some one has said, and there's quite a lot in it,
That women, like trolley cars, keep going by;
If one hides her heart so you really can't win it.
Another will be right along in a minute—
You only lose time when you mope
and you sigh.

So be not discouraged at her farewell
letter, Cheer up, saddened swain, there is hope still for thee.
The one you went batty about when you met her You're probably lucky that you didn't get her,
And there are more girls than the sands of the sea.

Somewhere has written George Barr
McCutcheon, the author, asking him
if there really is a country in Europe named Graustark. No, there isn't, but there is a country in America named the United States, although you hear hear little about it in the Paris dispatches.

NO, IT'S A SECRET.
Dear Roy: Will you please tell me what kind of a glass a wine glass is going to be after July 1 when the doctor orders someone to be taken three times daily in a wine glass of water?
CLAIRE.

THE WISDOM OF THE ANCIENTS.
Four things says the Bible old.
It cannot understand:
In the air an eagle build,
A serpent on the land,
On the sea gray ships that make
Swift trade to capture trade,
And a man whose weak knees quake
When smiled on by a maid.

Lost Bankbook Cashed; Bank Held Not Liable

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Macon, Ga., May 30.—Keep your bankbook locked up, for if it is stolen or lost and some impostor gets it and goes to a bank and draws the money, out, the bank is not liable. Judge
H. A. Mathews, of the Bibb county court, has just so ruled in the case of Mary Wilson vs. the Citizens' and Southern Bank, of Macon, and his decision has been affirmed by the court of appeals. Mary Wilson claimed that some one stole her bank book, went to the bank and withdrew $400, forging her name.

Dig Up Gas Tank.
Marquette, May 30.—Workmen while digging at the Charles J. Lauerman home on Riverside avenue this week made a unique find. They discovered a concrete tank filled with gasoline about eight feet below the surface.

The gasoline was of the finest kind and much higher test than petrol now sold. The tank was part of a lighting system used at the former Carney home over 30 years ago and the gasoline has been in the ground since that time. There were 45 gallons.

SOLDIERS OVER THERE GLAD TO RECEIVE COPIES OF GAZETTE

The following letter has been received from Sgt. Theo. Corrado, Janesville soldier still in France with Les Terribles regiment:

Troyon sr. Meuse, France.
"The Janesville Daily Gazette.
Dear friends: In behalf of the readers over here I wish to state that the few Gazettes we have received over here these last few months are very much appreciated and wish to thank you very much for same.
"Now that the boys are back home, no doubt you will get to learn just how a Doughboy feels so far from home to be deprived of a little thing as a cheering letter and news from home. There are still a few of us from the good old regiment, 'Les Terribles,' out here, and I know you will not forget us soon.
"My present surroundings are of a historical facsimile and I would like to let you know, as far as possible, just how it looks today. I am stationed at Troyon, some 15 kilometers north of Troyon. The company in general is quartered in pyramid tents but a few of us, including myself, are quartered in frame huts built by the Germans in the days gone by, but not forgotten.

"St. Mihiel, not entirely ruined, is being re-populated in amazing speed, and the commercial district is wide open, one being able to buy anything one wished. The inhabitants of this district can speak German, which is natural, being under German Kultur for four years, but it is French they wish to speak and at rare occasions will they speak any other, save English if they can. Les Ville Rouvrais, La Croix and Troyon are in fairly good shape and they too, are being rebuilt with fair speed, considering the trouble in rebuilding and repairing the partially ruined structures. The towns farther west are practically whole owing to the unstrategic position and of no value to maneuvers.

"I have passed Apremont, the place where the 'fortunate' 'Lost' Battalion received its title. Too bad they had to get lost in such a beautiful place as 'Apremont' in the 'Argonne brush'.
"My next camp will be further north towards Verdun, where the scenes bring back memories of heavy fighting and destruction, a city well known to the world and a district that has raised more bloodshed than any other in all previous wars put together.

"There is one thing I wish to state before closing. It may interest so many who did not experience the likeness. We do not observe real life, treat and in fact any calls of any description, not even 'show' call. Gee, if the whole army was that way, what a time we'd have! I am still chief of the 'truce force' and what we had for supper would make you all jealous of my organization. Going on, we had roast pork, mashed potatoes, brown gravy, genuine Boston baked beans, biscuits, butter, bread, coffee, and a package of Camels. The bill of fare is practically the same every day. Now if you don't think that dinner is palatable, just go to C. McDonald's and have one, and see for yourself. A mess sergeant's life may be hard, but there are reasons.

"Will close hoping to write from my new camp and give a description of Verdun as I find it.
"Greetings.
"SGT. THEO. CORRADO."

DOROTHY GISH FEATURED IN

"THE HEARTS OF THE WORLD"

There are just three people who know how and why D. W. Griffith named the hoydenish little street singer in his latest triumph, "Hearts of the World," which comes to the Apollo for three days, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, "the little disturber." Some might have guessed it, but only these three, Lillian Gish, D. W. Griffith and Mrs. Gish, actually knew that it was Dorothy's own personality which accounted for that altogether fitting monicker in the biggest love play that the screen has ever seen.

Dorothy in real life is "the little disturber." She has been "it" ever since she awoke one day in June, 1898. She has had her fingers in all the family pies and wherever she could all these years, and when Mr. Griffith cast her for the part in his new play, he knew that she would make a minor role a creation that would draw the applause of millions. She "budded in" as per usual, in fact, she put her fingers in the celluloid pie that D. W. Griffith worked on for two years and drew forth a plum that has earned her as much glory in a few weeks as that little Horner person came by in 75 years. Some people even give her the credit for the best impersonation in a play that is significant for its realism and the human quality of its character.

"The little disturber" is Dorothy in real life; when you see her in the play you see Dorothy as she appears to her friends—a happy-go-lucky, care-free, jovial, loving girl of twenty with a heart as big as all out-doors. She couldn't act that part, she must "Just be herself."

"Vida!" he called. "Mr. Dempton will remain here in the library. You will see that he does not grow lonesome. Bueno." He came back to Dempton's side and added quietly: "I am driving at this: the senior made certain observations upon the character of Americans. He mentioned the fact that a certain man had just come and gone whom he did not trust; he stated why that man had come; he mentioned a flaw that that man had pretended to find—Ah!" as a look of sudden understanding and a quick fear with it leaped into Dempton's small eyes. "Now you see? Shall we leave them, senorita?"

Teresa stepped through the door, Stanway following and closing it after them.

"We'll have him scared out of his life in no time," he chuckled. "By tomorrow morning he'll be ready to tell everything he knows if we'll just promise him twenty-four hours to dig out in."

"You are very wonderful, Senor Billy!"

The look she flashed him was unmistakably full of gratitude; and his leaping hope sought to read something else in it.

"Teresta!" he whispered.

But she had slipped from him, laughing, and a lacy mantilla was in his hands, and from the far side of the room, as she whisked into the hallway, she waived him a kiss from her pink finger tips.

"Teresta!" he urged.

But the door had closed.

"And," he muttered, his eyes darkening, "after all, when I find her papa grande for her he's just going to run me off the ranch! Unless—By Jupiter! I've a notion to do it!"

He was thinking of Padre Ignacio, the priest at La Panza.

CHAPTER VII.

A Rat in a Trap?

Eduardo Ramon Torre, lounging before one of the deep windows of the drawing room, smoked his cigarettes and hummed gay snatches of song, evidently quite happy, seemingly unaware of the presence of Gaucho Morales and a brother vaquero, who, on the other hand, kept their eyes alive upon the young Spaniard and their hard, brown hands close to their hips. The door opened and Stanway came in. Torre did not turn, did not cease his gay music. The two vaqueros rose and stood looking at the American curiously.

"Torre," called Stanway bluntly.

Torre turned, smiled, ended a last high note clearly, and only then bowed very deeply to the rancher.

"At your service, Senor Stanway," he said lightly.

"Gaucho," said Stanway, for the moment ignoring Torre. "I shall be with the senior for a little. If you and

PETEY DINK—THE ACCIDENT HADN'T CHANGED PETEY A BIT.

Your companion will wait for me in the patio I'll call you when I want you."

"Si, senor," responded the vaquero promptly. And from the door, as by way of afterthought: "We have not searched him, senor. No doubt he is armed."

"No doubt," dryly, from the rancher. "It is all right, Gaucho."

The two cowboys went out. Then pleasantly, insolently, Torre admitted to Stanway that he had been responsible for Senor de la Guerra's disappearance, that he knew where he was, and that the captain was his own agent.

"What," asked the rancher curiously, "do you gain from such an admission?"

"Two things, senor. In the first place I am meeting you upon a basis upon which we may be able to come to terms. It seems that you are really the one for me to deal with. In the second place, and the smile in his eyes was hard and cruel enough now, "I am taunting a man whom I do not like. That is a pleasure."

Stanway frowned, not understanding.

"Bring us back the senior and you gain your freedom—your safety, if you don't waste too much time getting out of the country," he said.

"You ask a great deal," Torre pulled thoughtfully at his little mustache. "And you offer a very little. For I shall have my freedom and safety—why, senor, at any time I please!"

"You refuse my offer?"

"Absolutely."

"Even," went on Stanway coolly, "after your personal danger is augmented by Dempton's confession of complicity?"

For the first time the rancher saw a quick light of fear leap into Torre's eyes. Then the lids dropped a little—a very little, but enough to hide his eyes—and in an instant Torre's manner was again careless, indifferent.

"A random shot that, no?" He lifted his eyes once more, and they were frank and truthful again. "I am sorry that it does not find a target."

"What will you say when you are confronted with Dempton's written, and signed confession?"

"That will never be. I know that he has confessed to nothing."

Stanway leaned forward and tapped his forefinger upon the table between them. "I shall have Dempton's confession within twenty-four hours!"

Torre shook his head, smiling his inscrutable smile.

"I have a counter-offer to make," said Torre. "Teresta is to pay to Captain Juarez the money which he demands—twenty thousand dollars. Within twenty-four hours from the time that the money is paid her grandfather will walk into this drawing room unharmed."

"And if she refuses your offer?"

"Then, twenty-four hours after her refusal, her grandfather will be dead. Then I shall be the heir to the entire property. You will accuse me of having murdered him, and I shall deny. It will go to the courts. In the end I shall be cleared. You see, senor, times are fortunately turbulent along the border, and what has happened may so easily be laid at the door of the poor devil of insurrections. You can create suspicion, you can make trouble. But then there is the will, properly drawn and witnessed, and—there is something else!"

"And that?" curiously, wondering how far Torre would go in showing his hand.

"There will be other witnesses of whom you do not guess yet—witnesses carefully selected, who will not be shaken in a point they make, and they will swear that Senor de la Guerra became very angry with his granddaughter upon the very day of his disappearance; that he quarreled openly with her; that he vowed he would disinherit her, and that he sent immediately for his lawyer to make the new will. Do you care, senor, to know what these witnesses will prove to be the cause of the quarrel?"

"Well?" asked Stanway.

"It will be that Teresa, heedless of her grandfather's hatred of all Americans, had fallen in love with one of them; that she defied De la Guerra, and swore that she would marry—"

"Why!" gasped the rancher. "It's perjury!"

"Certainly." The smile merely deepened upon Torre's handsome face. "But let us think not of the legal morality of it but of the effect upon a jury. Who, when this point is made, will seem the one who would be desirous of the disappearance of the old gentleman?"

"Who then will appear in the light of the abductor? I leave it to you," busy over a new cigarette, "if the point will not hold."

Stanway's mouth hardened.

He saw that if Torre had made one mistake—if Dempton were in reality what he appeared, a weak fool—yet the young Spaniard had planned pains-takingly elsewhere.

"You may mark a certain seeming discrepancy," went on the Spaniard. "I suppose the De la Guerra estate is worth a million. And I am asking only twenty thousand dollars to renounce all claim, free the old gentleman, go away and leave you, senor, to pay your court to the heiress!"

He laughed softly at Stanway's quick, angry frown, and continued swiftly:

"It is because I have very urgent need of ten thousand dollars. It would save me from an embarrassing position, senor. You do not guess how embarrassing. And I am very modestly asking merely twice my actual needs."

"True, there is more to gain by slitting the throat of my esteemed kinsman and inheriting the whole. You see, I don't mind speaking frankly, between friends."

"But, on the other hand, the danger of which you speak would be much greater—and I need the money now, not after the courts can have had time to haggle over the will for a year or two. So, senor, you have my offer. What do you say?"

"I say," cried Stanway hotly, "that you are a scoundrel, and I believe only so much of what you say as I judge wise. If Senor de la Guerra dies, why then you go to the hangman—provided Gaucho and his men allow you to go that far. You will save him to save your own neck. Do you absolutely refuse to accept my proposition?"

Pleasant Fields Of Holy Writ

Second Quarter, Lesson IX: Hebrew XI 1-10; XII June 1, 1919.

Golden Text: The righteous shall live by faith.—Romans 1: 17.

FAITH: WHAT IT IS AND WHAT IT DOES.

The year 1919, which in the centennial of John Ruskin and James Russell Lowell, these modern men are not altogether unrelated to the ancient worthies whose names and deeds the writer in the Epistle to the Hebrews records in the Eleventh chapter. Each is a man with a vision and the success of each depended upon his fidelity to his vision. Ruskin was the incomparable interpreter of the natural world in its aspects of beauty and sublimity. To those who listen to him sympathetically the world of nature can never be quite the same, certainly never drab and uninteresting. Loving nature with such ardor and believing in its sanctity, he made his protest against her profanation in terms so caustic as to make one thing of the prophet Malachi. It is very natural that he should turn from nature, which is the art of God, to painting, which is the art of man, and prove the most eloquent and original of all writers on art. His becoming, in turn, the social reformer was the last stage in the evolution of an hearty and unselfish soul.

Lowell, for his part was a flower-blown in the bed of education. As a Harvard graduate he represented the 4th successive generation of his family. But his scholarly traits and habits were put in pawn for the cause of Freedom. His Biglow Papers did in verse what "Uncle Tom's Cabin" did in prose and had the advantage of appearing first. L. L.-9 Hops Off To Footville At 1:00 P. M. Today

By George McManus.

RUBE ELDER, ET AL, GO ON FOURTH LEG OF VOYAGE

BY KID BIFF

The L. L.-9, more widely known as the Lawrence Lunch, Janesville baseball team, will hop off for Footville at 1:00 p. m. today, weather permitting, on the fourth leg of its championship flight, according to a wireless message picked up at the Gazette office today from Commander James A. Murphy, pilot of the L. L.-9.

Commander Murphy and his companions, Rube Elder, Tommie Croake et al who completed the third leg of their flight last Sunday at 5:07 p. m. (Janesville time) are eager to resume the voyage again today.

Upon arriving at Footville the L. L.-9 will indulge in a nice round race with the W. S.-9, better known as the Footville White Sox, hopping off from the village late this afternoon to arrive in Janesville early this evening. The race at Footville will be the most difficult of any of the legs as the W. S.-9 is the only high-powered machine in the county outside of the W. S.-9 at Beloit and the L. L.-9.

BEATING RACING EVEN.

All kidding aside, even so and nevertheless there's going to be some baseball game out there at Footville this afternoon when the Janesville and Footville White Sox hop on the diamond, and the outcome of the game is running high. The Gazette is even going to close at noon today to allow the biffing kid to tour to the western village with Commander Murphy and his boys. Betting is running about even although the majority of those who saw the Janesville perform with their revamped line-up last Sunday are offering 2 to 1 odds on the Janesville.

The excitement is scheduled to start at three o'clock sharp. In order that the local clan can get a work-out on the Footville diamond, the game, every player has been ordered to report at the London hotel at 12:30 p. m. and will probably be one o'clock before the team gets started. The trip will be made in cars.

Lawrence, Madison sportsman, who donated the kale to put the Janesville on their feet several weeks ago will accompany the boys to see the game, down the road, the offensive and defensive. This will be the first time he has seen them perform.

FOOTVILLE ALL EXCITED.

Footville is in a fever over the game, and the local boys are hopping over the local line they will probably go out and challenge the world at large. There will be a number of big chests out there should the Janesville lose.

The "Umps" has not been agreed upon as yet but whoever he is, when he yells out about three o'clock today, "Game on!" for today's game, for Footville, Lenta and Silverthorn, for Janesville, Elder and Croake! Play ball!" he will have started a young man who will be the same as announced in last evening's Gazette. Murphy has rathered the cream of the baseball material in Janesville and surrounding cities and villages and has a team there capable of holding its own with the best of 'em.

JANESVILLE VS. ROCKFORD SUNDAY.

Both teams will play again Sunday, but not against each other.

The Janesville will take on the Ogdun Colts of Rockford, at the Forest City at 3 o'clock Sunday. The same trip will be called on to face the Forrest City.

Footville is scheduled to hook up with the Edgerton Highway Trailers at Footville, Sunday afternoon. On the outcome of today's game depends whether they will be able to get a line on how the Footville-Edgerton game will come out. It looks like an easy victory for the pale hosed nine unless the Trailers show more speed than they did here last Sunday.

ALL-STARS VS. BELOIT, RAILS VS. PRODUCTS CO. HERE THIS AFTERNOON

Fans unable to make the journey to Footville today to see the Janesville perform, have the opportunity of seeing either of two other games here at Janesville. The Janesville game is at 2:00 o'clock or the C. M. & St. P. vs. Janesville Products Co. at the fair grounds at 2:30.

The All Star-Beloit game promises to be the most exciting of the two contested Janesville-Beloit battle always takes the spotlight no matter how formidable the teams are.

Ted Hager will probably labor on the mound for the Stars with Wall behind the willow. For Beloit, Monohr is expected to pitch while Hutchinson will be the receiving work.

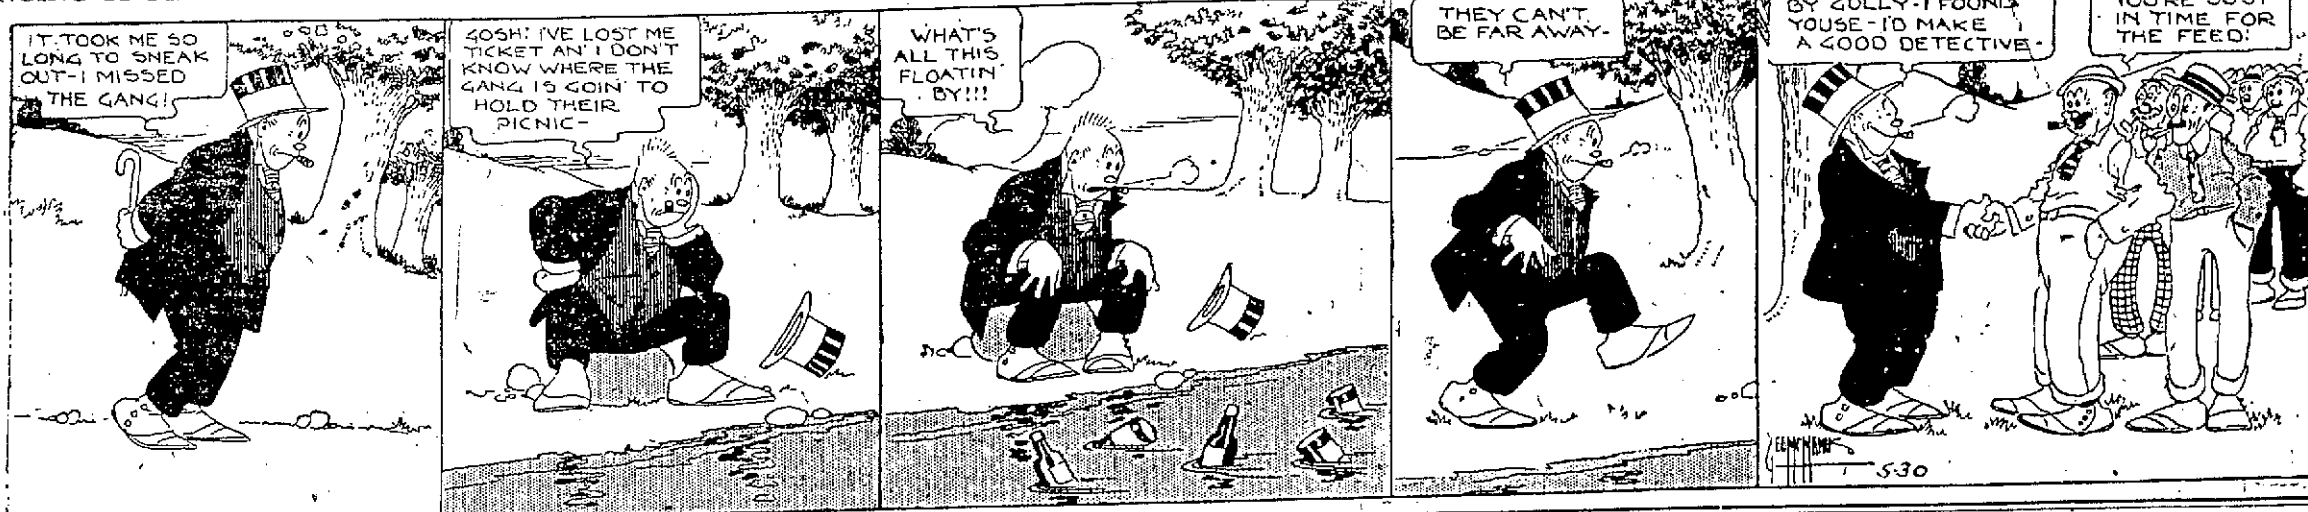

The game at the fair grounds is expected to be little more than a practice game for the Rails as the Products also is not considered a speedy team. Hutchinson will pitch for the Rails and will be opposed by Beckert.

33 CARS READY FOR 500 MILE GRIND

Indianapolis, Ind., May 30.—Yesterday's elimination trials for the 500-mile race Saturday brought in a complete field and two to spare, with the result that Reynold's Hudson and Cote's Open brought in a speedy victory over the slowest in the bunch. There was nothing sensational in yesterday's trials, none making a 100-mile-an-hour gait. Eleven more cars were fast enough to qualify, but as the field is limited to thirty-three, two cars must be dropped.

Dave Lewis will not be among the starters. Having a broken connecting bearing he could not get his Duesenberg ready for the trial yesterday and today no car will be allowed on the track as it is to be washed.

Flashes From The Diamond

Kauff tripped in the fifth inning yesterday, and then stole home helping New York to win from Brooklyn, 6 to 2. It was Causey's seventh straight victory.

Al Demaree started his first game from the Phillies, 4 to 1. The Braves bunched six hits off Hogg in the fourth inning for three runs.

The Reds followed up bases on balls with clean hits for a win over Pittsburgh. Saltee was hit hard but the Reds' defensive saved him.

Bunching five hits, including three doubles, with a pass and an error in the fifth accounted for five runs for Boston against the lowly Athletics. The Athletics did not reach first in six innings.

The Tanks administered the eighth straight defeat to the Senators. Washington outbatted New York but made a bunch of bulls.

FINDS RACING FAME HAS ITS DRAWBACKS

EDDIE PULLEN

Eddie Pullen, winner of the 1914 Grand Prize at Santa Monica, and star contender in the Indianapolis 500-mile Liberty Sweepstakes on the Indianapolis speedway, May 31st, finds that being a famous racing celebrity has its disadvantages.

A short time ago Pullen was as-tounded to read in a San Francisco paper—he lives in Oakland, across the bay—that he had "married" a Miss Rosa Bernauer, trained nurse, and would leave immediately for New York, where he planned to make his home. He also read that "when he drove for new honors on the Indianapolis speedway, Mrs. Pullen would be in the pit to take care of him in case of accident."

Pullen rubbed his eyes and then hustled across the bay to find out how the story had started. He found out that a man with the same name as his own had married, and either purposely or accidentally had given the impression that he was "the Eddie Pullen."

Eddie is not a bachelor, having been married long before he became famous for his exploits with a steering wheel; in fact he never starts in a race unless his baby's first pair of shoes is tied to the steering post of his car.

Pullen is now hurrying east for fear he will arrive at the Indianapolis race and find the other Eddie has usurped his driver's seat.

FINAL EVENTS IN TRACK MEET TONIGHT

The employed boys-high school dual track meet at the Y. M. C. A. will be finished up tonight when the remaining five events will be run off, beginning promptly at eight o'clock. Physical Director Craig will direct the events.

The relay race promises to be the most exciting event of the evening. Swartz, Newman, Phil Smith and Grubb make up the high school relay team, while Pallette, Bull, McClusky, and Kelly will uphold the employed boys' side.

The other events will be run off as follows:
220-yard potato race: High school, Shurtlett and Grubb; employed boys, Hager and Mills.
8 lb. shot-put: High school, Gridley and Newman; employed boys, Kelly and Goker.

Standing broad jump: High school, R. Smith and Black; employed boys, Pallette and Felts.
Running high jump: High school, Ewing and Phil Smith; employed boys, Sullivan and McClusky.

NATIONAL SHOOTING MEET TO BE HELD IN EAST LATE IN AUGUST

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

New York, May 30.—Details of the big national marksmanship contest to be held at the navy rifle range, Caldwell, N. J., in August, under auspices of the navy department, where in rifle and pistol shots from all parts of the country will decide small arms championships, have been made public.

The national matches, as the competitions are known, will begin on August 25, and will be preceded by the matches of the National Rifle Association of America and various state events.

The test of skill with the rifle as characterized by the national individual match and national team match calls for the firing of sixty shots with United States rifle, model of 1903, using ammunition furnished by the government. The contests are divided into three stages.

In the first stage each contestant will shoot twenty shots rapid fire, on the B-target upon which the bullseye measures twenty inches at a distance of 200 yards. Ten shots will be fired from the kneeling, from standing position and a like number of shots from the kneeling—sitting or squatting—front standing position. Each string of ten shots must be fired in one minute. Either what is known as the battle-sight or leaf-sight may be used.

The second stage of the match calls for slow fire at 500 yards on the B-larger. Twenty shots will be fired in one string of ten shots, prone position. The second string of five shots kneeling, and a third string of five shots sitting or squatting in order named. Sighting shots are not permitted.

The third stage calls for twenty shots slow fire at 1,000 yards—the long range test—on target C, the bullseye of which is thirty-six inches. In the national pistol match, this course of fire will be followed:

First stage: Slow fire (20 seconds per shot) two scores (five shots each) at twenty-five yards. Target "J," the army pistol target.

Second stage: Rapid fire (20 seconds per score), 2 scores (five shots each) at 25 yards target "J."

Third stage: Rapid fire (10 seconds per score), 2 scores (five shots each) at 25 yards target "J."

The arm used in the national pistol match will be any pistol or revolver of .45 calibre having a barrel not more than 18 inches long. The ordinance department has been authorized to select weapons especially adapted for accurate shooting, and arrangements have been made to furnish rifles and ball cartridges to teams for practice on their home ranges. Complete copies of the national match rules may be had by applying to Lt. Col. W. C. Harlow, U. S. M. C., executive officer, 1108 Woodward building, Washington, D. C.

Pire Will Pitch in Rice Lake-Barron Game

Les Pire, star pitcher for the Rails with a record of 16 strike-outs in his last game, went to Rice Lake to pitch for Barron in the Rice Lake-Barron contest this afternoon. Pire received an S. O. S. from his old home town Wednesday asking him to come and tame the Rice Lake sluggers.

SOLDIERS CAN HUNT BUT CAN'T EAT CATCH

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
With the American Army of Occupation, May 30.—American soldiers fond of wild game hunting are looking forward to July 1 when the season for duck, snipe, plover, wild swans, cranes and other swamp and bog game begins. It was decided recently by Third army officers that the soldiers of the Army of Occupation should abide by the German regulations regarding wild game. The season for big game even after the first of August will be closed. The first opportunity of the summer for the Americans to try their hand at this kind of shooting.

But the American soldier will not be allowed to have the pleasure of eating the game even after he has had victory in the field. To prevent the soldiers from depleting the food supply of the country all meat obtained as a result of hunting by any army personnel will be turned over to the poor people of the locality in which the game was killed.

SPORT SNAP-SHOTS

BY JACK KEENE.

"Ira Flagstead is destined to be one of the greatest hitters in the business. 'Chick' is a good hitter now, and is bound to improve with each day of experience gained in the American league. He takes a healthy cut at the ball and his hits are usually on a line."

Such is the compliment paid to Ira Flagstead, recruit outfielder of the Detroit American league club, by Tyrus Raymond Cobb, admittedly one of the greatest hitters of all time.

When the American league season opened "Chick" Shorten was Jennings' selection for right field. Shorten injured his leg in the opening game against Cleveland. That gave Flagstead his chance. He has hit the ball in such timely fashion that Shorten's chances for breaking back into the game seem very slim.

Flagstead has had a rather remarkable experience since breaking into professional ball three years ago. In 1917, with Tacoma in the Northwest league, he hit .381 and last year he led the Southern league with exactly the same figure, a peculiar coincidence. At present he is hitting better than .300 in the American league and appears certain to stay in the select class on the form he is showing.

The New Zealand eight-oar boat crew that won the recent race on the Seno in which crews from the expeditionary forces of all the allies took part, is expected to be among those to compete at the annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen on Lake Quigsgamond, at Worcester, Mass., Aug. 1 and 2. Crack crews from Canada, England and France are to take part in the events.

Two races will be between soldiers and sailors. Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan will give a loving cup to the winner in one of the service events and John J. Mulcahy, president of the Atlanta Boat club, will give a similar prize to the winner of the other race. The New Zealand crew, which has asked permission to take part in the regatta, defeated crack crews, many of them having some of the best oarsmen in the world, at the meet on the Seine. The crew will cross the United States on the way back to New Zealand. An invitation has been cabled to these oarsmen, and they are expected to be on hand. Other foreign crews have notified James Pilkington, president of the association, that they will participate.

Two Yale varsity men have been made Chevaliers of the Legion of Honor by the president of France for bravery while serving with the American naval aviation unit at Dunkirk. They are Artemus L. Gates, football captain-elect in 1918, and Edward D. Cernea, well known as a sprinter on Yale track teams.

Gates, who is of the class of 1918, comes from Clinton, Ia., and played tackle in 1916 and 1917. He enlisted in the spring of 1917, and was sent to the United States naval air station at Dunkirk, and a month before the armistice was taken prisoner by the Germans. He received the rank of lieutenant commander, one of the few of this grade in naval aviation, and has also been awarded the Croix de Guerre and the British Distinguished Flying Cross.

De Cernea served under Gates at Dunkirk, and is an ensign. He has the War Cross with the gold palm.

Gene Paulette, once with the Giants and now guarding the initial sack for St. Louis club, is one of the best fielding first basemen in the league.

Awarded War Cross.
Marquette, May 30.—Pvt. Lester Rondeau, Co. I, 12th infantry, 32nd division, was awarded the Croix de Guerre by the French government.

He was in a hospital in France when the formal designation was made at Ringdorf, Germany. The medal will be formally presented to him soon in this country.
